History

Pulaski Area Community Education began in the 1930s when the PCSD began a community-wide outreach effort.

Since then, PACE has evolved to include a wide variety of programs, many of which have their origins in the district's community-based philosophy. As such, many of the programs are often co-opted with community groups and organizations.

In 1999, the National Center for Community Education listed PACE as one of America's model community education initiatives.

PACE Highlights

- Adult and multi-generational community education classes offered throughout the year
- PACE-Setter group for actively involved adult citizens organizes numerous events, educational opportunities and trips each year
- Alumni Association helps PHS graduates network online and stay connected to their roots
- Community Pantry of Pulaski helps those with food insecurity
- Youth sports give children the chance to learn about sports and teamwork in a fun, safe environment
- Pulaski United Foundation serves residents of the Pulaski Community School District by assisting families in need and funding projects throughout the community
- STEP program for senior citizens provides property tax relief while also giving them the chance to volunteer in our schools

Summer School

- Classes are held from mid-June until early August, all day long
- Summer school is open to all students in grades 4K-12
- Students can sign up for art, academic and athletic courses
- PCSD provides free transportation each morning and afternoon from all five district elementary schools and some area daycares
- Summer school is an academic enrichment and recreational program dedicated to active learning with limited use of electronic devices.
- Build a Better Raider, a fitness program taught by coaches, is offered throughout the summer to prepare district athletes for their respective sports
- Free breakfast and lunch are offered through district food service
